ABOUT AMERICA

Population: 312 million Territory: 9,372,600 sq.km.

There are more than 24.7 million registered businesses in the United States

America is the world's third largest country in total area.

The United States consists of
FIFTY STATES & A FEDERAL DISTRICT

The United States of America is located in central North America, comprised of fifty states and a federal district, the capitol of Washington DC. America is bordered to the north by Canada, to the south by Mexico and it lies between the Pacific Ocean on the west and Atlantic Ocean on the east.

With the title of "The Melting Pot", it is no surprise that the United States is one of the most ethnically diverse nations. A great majority of the population are of European descent due to the original group of British settlers in the colonies with other national groups introduced by immigration.

In 1776, America gained independence from British power and were recognized as a new nation after the Treaty of Paris in 1783. The area of this new nation was divided into 13 colonies and during the 19th and 20th century, 37 new states were added as the nation expanded west across the continent. The United States of America has a history of war involvement, starting with their first victory against Britain to gain independence. America was also victorious in World War I, World War II, and the Cold War. The US remains the world's most powerful nation state.

The government of the United States of America is a constitution-based federal republic with a strong democratic tradition. There is a division of power between the state and federal governments with the federal government divided into three branches, the executive, legislative, and the judicial. The executive power is vested in the president.

The US has the largest and most technologically powerful economy with a per capita GDP of around $48,000. Although the country was self-sufficient in the past, an increasing consumption, especially in energy, continues to make it dependent on other nations for imports. However, it leads all nations in the production of liquid natural gas, aluminum, copper, and gold. It is also the world's largest producer of both electrical and nuclear energy.

Just Aircraft was founded in 2002 when Aircraft designer Troy Woodland left his position at Flying K Enterprises, manufacturer of the Sky Raider kit. Troy wanted to design a plane of his own. He met Gary Schmitt at an air show and Gary wanted a plane with many of the current features of the Escapade. With Gary's backing they collaborated on a design.

The Escapade has a number of features that distinguish it from other airplanes of similar size. Troy and Gary quickly proved that the company was serious about making improvements on traditional designs: primarily a huge luggage compartment, a more roomy cabin, and a simplified wing-folding mechanism that avoids the need to remove control linkages.

Soon after the Escapade came the Highlander, a more rugged plane that quickly emerged as a shining star for Just Aircraft.

In 1983 the first fully welded casement system was designed and offered to window fabricators in 1984. As the market conditions dictated new systems were added to meet the growing demands for a maintenance free, energy efficient, vinyl window. In 1997 vinyl fencing was added under the name Westech Building Products, a producer of vinyl fence, deck and rail components.

Westech has developed unique product lines that have become the benchmark of the fence industry. Both companies now operate under the Westech banner as member of the Westlake Chemical Corporation group of companies.

BISSELL's goal is to help you improve the ways you take care of your home, right down to the microscopic irritants.

Since 1876, we've spent years developing cleaning tools designed to keep your living environment up to the highest standards. In the mid-1800s, Anna and Melville Bissell owned a small crockery shop in Grand Rapids, Michigan. While cleaning up after the day's work, Anna often became frustrated with the sawdust that was embedded in the carpet. The tiny, stubborn particles clung to the carpet, and trying to sweep them up was becoming a time-consuming nuisance.

Anna and Melville Bissell Anna presented the problem to Melville, her mechanically inclined husband. Melville designed and constructed a carpet sweeper machine that he hoped would solve the problem once and for all.

Air Knife Systems utilize compressed air for industrial applications that include drying, removing excess oils and liquids, dust blow off, and cooling.

An air knife is effective and efficient. The laminar (uniform) sheet of air is projected along the entire length of the air knife to provide an air flow that covers the entire surface of the product. Air Knife Systems from EXAIR have small profiles, are manufactured in various lengths and can be mounted to accommodate many industrial applications involving conveyors and webs, even in tight spaces. Whether your goal is to remove dust and contaminants, cool hot parts or blow off excess oil, water and liquids, the air knife is also energy efficient. By entraining high volumes of room air they use less compressed air and less energy than other blow off products.

Shukla Medical had its start when Dr. Robert Winqvist approached several of the large orthopedic companies with interest in developing a truly universal IM (intramedullary) nail removal system. Most of the companies were willing to develop the system, but were not willing to share information about their IM nails with their competitors. Dr. Winqvist finally got all the parties to agree to supply the information to a non-competitive entity. That entity was Snap-On, and subsequently Snap-On developed a medical division. In 1998 Snap-On decided to get out of the medical business and concentrate on its core competency, automotive tools. Snap-on then turned to one of its suppliers, S. S. White Technologies to see if they were interested in purchasing the medical division.

MotorAnalyzer works with a single drop of oil. Simply place a drop of warm oil on the test sheet and watch it work! As the MotorAnalyzer test sheet absorbs the oil a series of circles form a clear visual pattern. Compare this graphic display with the Test Results Guide to determine the amount of soot in the oil; the status of the oil (whether or not an oil change is required); water in the oil and fuel in the oil.
